

ECOWEEK 2013

JOIN ECOWEEK - NEW NORDIC LIVING!

From 13th - 19th May 2013 KEA - Copenhagen School of Design and Technology - will be hosting 300+ Danish and international students and young professionals who will be participating in ECOWEEK - New Nordic Living.

ECOWEEK is all about raising public awareness to the environmental issues that we are facing and giving the next generation the opportunity to have a go at designing sustainable solutions to existing problems.

Participants will work across different disciplines and nationalities to create solutions which will be judged by some of the key players within the international urban development community.
